About d line

d line has been specialising in manufacturing hand-worked architectural products such as door handles, toilet accessories and fittings since 1971. The whole thing started in the 1960s, when Danish architect and industrial designer, Knud Holscher, worked at Arne Jacobsen's design studio, and was given responsibility for a prestigious project at St. Catherine's College in Oxford.

A range of architectural products in stainless steel was needed, able to create continuity from door to bathroom. He began to design himself, and the first products were launched by d line in 1971. Since then, d line has created timeless, streamlined and innovative products. And the most important thing of all: no compromise in design, craftsmanship and quality.

- Danish design since 1971
- Unique ball bearing system to ensure minimum wear
- Action radius equivalent to the shaft diameter
- Made in hand-ground grain 320 AISI 316 stainless steel
- 20-year product guarantee

Re-handle

Lifetime extension for the product by hand-grinding and polishing, along with the replacement of worn parts. The result is a completely renewed product with an additional 20-year guarantee. The process can be repeated 4 times, to ensure a service life of up to 100 years.
